

BodyCurve Revision Surgery Assessment Process

At BodyCurve, every request for revision surgery is considered individually and assessed carefully to ensure the most appropriate outcome for each patient.

Step 1: Clinical Review

If you have concerns regarding the outcome of your surgery, a follow-up consultation with your surgeon will be arranged.

During this appointment, your surgeon will assess your concerns, discuss your outcome, and determine whether any further treatment or surgery may be appropriate.

Please note that not all concerns will require or result in revision surgery, as some outcomes may fall within the expected and accepted results of surgery.

Step 2: Revision Assessment

Where revision surgery is discussed and considered appropriate by both you and your surgeon, your case will undergo a further review process.

This review considers:

- Your individual clinical circumstances.
- Your diagnosis and treatment history.
- The surgeon's recommendations.
- The terms and conditions agreed to before your original procedure.

As each case is unique, all decisions are made on an individual basis.

Step 3: Outcome and Costs

Once the review has been completed, we will provide you with the outcome and discuss the next steps.

Depending on the individual circumstances, revision surgery may:

- Be offered by agreement between the patient and surgeon.
- Require a financial contribution from the patient.
- Be subject to a separate treatment agreement and quotation.

As outlined within the consent documentation signed before surgery:

"I understand that any future or revision surgery required at a later stage will be subject to a separate agreement. Such procedures are not included within the fixed price of the surgery I am currently undergoing and will be costed at the time, based on my individual circumstances and clinical needs."

Timeframes

We understand that waiting for updates can be frustrating and appreciate your patience throughout the assessment process.

Please be aware that:

- Every revision request requires careful review.
- We cannot guarantee timescales for decisions or outcomes.
- Updates are provided as soon as information becomes available.
- Surgery dates cannot be discussed until all approvals and clinical reviews have been completed.
- In some cases, a surgery date may not be available until one week or less before scheduling can be confirmed.

Location of Surgery

- Should revision surgery be agreed, we cannot guarantee in advance which hospital location the procedure will take place at.
- The location will be determined based on a number of factors, including clinical requirements, surgeon availability and facility availability at the time of booking.
- For this reason, the surgical location may differ from the location of your original procedure. We will provide confirmation of the venue as soon as arrangements have been finalised.

Important Information

Revision surgery will only be considered following an appropriate healing period and at the discretion of the surgeon. Except in cases requiring urgent medical attention, decisions regarding revision surgery are typically not made until a suitable period has passed following the original procedure.

Our priority is ensuring that all decisions are made safely, fairly, and with your best clinical interests in mind.

Communication

We appreciate that patients are eager for answers during this process. While we may not always have immediate updates, please be assured that your case remains under review. We will contact you as soon as we have further information and kindly ask for your patience while the assessment is being completed.
